

Launch timings

Production of Mazda CX-5 upgrade models commences 1 December 2013, with first deliveries expected in February 2014.

Pricing will be updated for 1 January 2014, including the Mazda range pricelist, national and dealer websites and the configurator. The vehicle specification upgrades will be communicated from February across all platforms, including updated Mazda CX-5 brochures which will be auto-issued in February.

Product Upgrade Specification Changes - All grades

Exterior colours:

- Blue Reflex Mica (42B) replaces Sky Blue Mica (41B)
- Deep Crystal Blue Mica (42M) replaces Stormy Blue Mica (35J)
- Slight change in alloy wheel colouration (to match new Mazda6 and all-new Mazda3)

Driving Dynamics:

- Updated tuning of dampers, bushes and stabilisers to increase ride comfort and reduce noise, vibration and harshness levels
- Introduction of clutch restart system for manual transmission models. This system allows engine restart by depressing the clutch within a few seconds of stalling the vehicle. This removes the need to stop and restart the engine by pressing the engine start/stop button.

Interior design:

- Automatic gear shift updated from gate-shift to a straight-shift style (as seen on all-new Mazda3)

Removal of jack and wheel brace - these have been added to the Mazda CX-5 spare wheel kit as detailed in the updated DOCS letter 2596.

Product Upgrade Specification Changes - Additional for SE-L Lux and Sport grades

Interior design:

- Updated steering wheel with red stitching (smooth leather type to match new Mazda6)
- Addition of red stitching to gear shift and handbrake trim
- Removal of Stone leather interior trim option, replaced with optional Light Stone leather priced at +£200 (to match new Mazda6 and all-new Mazda3)

Additional specification:

- Driver's seat memory function (in addition to existing driver's seat power adjustment)
- Passenger's seat 6-way power adjustment

MSC code changes

Changes to MSC codes will only occur to SE-L Lux and Sport models fitted with the optional Light Stone leather interior trim. Light Stone leather replaces Stone leather which is no longer available from December production. All other derivatives will retain their current MSC codes.
